AMERICANS TO KEEP UP BANDIT PURSUIT DICKMAN DECLARES

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 22.—Lieut. R. R. Fox, of Rockwell field, misunderstood a conversation in the office of Col. Hamilen, field commandant, today, and notifield Miss Georgia Waterhouse that her brether Lieut F. B. Waterhouse, and Lieut. C. H. Connelly, missing aviators, had been found by a Mexican cavalry patrol.

had been found by a Mexican cavalry patrol.

Miss Waterhouse said Lieut. R. R. Fox, of Rockwell field, telephoned a Calaxico cavalry patrol had located the aviators and found them safe but was unable to bring them in. Fox said, according to Miss Waterhouse, he obtained his information from the Calexico cavalry patrol. The information has not yet been verified here.

Col. Hanlon later declared no word had been received at Rockwell field cencerning either pilot.

M. QFA, Tex., Aug. 22.—As long as the arierican punitive expedition continues to follow a hot trail, it will remain in Mexico, unless orders to the contrary are received from the war department, Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dick. man. commander of the southern department, announced here today.

Gen. Dickman did not seam concerned over the protest of the Mexican government against the presence of the punitive expedition, saying that it was "usual fall protest."

AMERICAN SOLDIERS CONTINUE BANDIT CHASE

MARFA, Tex., Aug. 22.—The American punitive expedition against Mexican bandits who held Lieutenants Harold G. Peterson and Paul H. Davis, army aviators, for ransom was making pregress today, according to advices from the field, and reports that the United States forces would be withdrawn at once were denied officially. No definite time has been fixed for the withdrawai but it is understood that the plan of campaign includes at least another week's search through the mountains for the Renterla band.

Five bandits are known to have been killed by the Americans so far with a possibility of a sixth one, a bandit having been seen to fall from his horse when aviators returned their fire. It developed that the two prisoners reported captured by Capé Matiack were men killed at the blockhouse fight on Wednesday.

The American troops camped last night at a place where there was plenty of water. The soldlers scouted the surrounding country throughout the day in separate detachments, but concentrated at the camp at dark. The trails are so rocky and steep that pack mules carrying supplies fell over cliffs and several were lost. A number of horses of Maj. C. C. Smith's command also fell off the trail, but come of the Capt. Matlack will return to his troops in Mexico today. He had a long canference with Gen. Dickman and Col. George Langhorne last nicht.

If Capt. Matlack had not spurred his horse carrying Lieut. Davis behind and imade a dash for the border last Tuesday when the aviators' ransom was paid, there is little doubt but that he and Lieut. Davis would have been killed by the Mexican bandits. This developed here last night when Capt. Matlack had not spurred his lack reported to Gen. Dickman and Col. Langhorne the reason he escaped from the bandits without paying the ransom. Capt. Matlack said that while waiting for Jesus Renteria's man to bring Davis to the appointed place under an old tree for the exchange of the ransom for the prisoner, he heard two Mexicans slipping through a corning Capt. Cotton States Association Elects W. H. Maxwell President and Closes Three-Day Profitable Discussion.

The Cotton States Merchants' assolation begins is seventh year under the leadership of W. H. Maxwell, of Stanton, Tenn., who was chosen president by a unanimous vote at the closing session of the Sixth annual convention late Thursday afternoon.

With Mr. Maxwell as vice-presidents are J. N. Brown, Olive Branch, Miss.; W. H. Pace, Mammoth Spring, Ark. and William Tucker, Ripley, Tenn. Mr. Maxwell assumed the gavel immediately on his election and called upon all the members of the association to carry out, during the coming year, both in their bushess and in their personal lives, the slogan of the association, "co-operation and service." He pledged himself to work with the upmbers toward keeping that pledge. Mr. Maxwell has been a leading merchant of his section for years, was among the first to join the association six years ago and has never failed to attend the meetings.

The association also called for the immediate ratification of the peace trenty, and in another section declared that the merchants "are only making a fair profit on the merchandise they are offering for sale," thus disposing of the general charges of profiteering. also fell off the trail, but none of the horses riders were injured.

The storms soaked the hiankets and uniforms of the men, causing many to sleep in wet clothes last night.

The American Red Cross sent an automobile load of cigarettes, chewing rum and tobacco to the river for loading on pack mules on route to the punitive expedition. Aviators loaded planes with the same articles to take to the cavalry today.

Additional sirpianes are to be ordered here from the Fort Blins flying field to reinforce the eight planes now flying here. Four airplanes are out of commission because of falls, had oil or other reasons.

Several planes will operate from the field base being established in Mexico. 25 miles from the border. They will be supplied by a motor truck train carrying drums of gasoline, oil and other supplies. The aviators will not remain there but will use the flying field here as their base, flying to Presidio and from there to the Mexican field to reconnoiter.

Four bandits were killed by American troops Wednesday, Capt. Leonard Matlack, who arrived here by airplane last night, reported. They were surrounded in an adobe blockhouse that the Mexicans pass.

The bandits fought desperately when they found they were trapped and two escaped. When American cavalry. Three of the four Mexicans killed have been identified as Jesus Janir, Prancisco Janir and Jose Fuentes. The identity of the fourth bandit has not yet been ascertained.

With the local car shortage so acute that several local lines are compelled to unload their inbound merchandise cars before they can load their outbound merchandise freight from the depots, and with many large local industries unable to get cars to move distries unable to get cars to move their commodities, the federal railroad administration is sending out of Memphis hundreds of brand new empty box cars, manufactured at the Binghamton plant of the American Car Foundry, cars which have stood idle on Memphis side tracks for months awaiting the order of the railroad administration. About 30 days ago these idle cars filled some 10 miles of local trackage.

tion. About 30 days ago these idle cars filled some 10 miles of local trackage.

The cars were then assigned to the Santa Fe railroad, and as fast as the cars could be stenciled they have been delivered at the rate of from 30 to 50 per day. It will take about 30 days to complete the delivery of the cars, it is said. The Binghamaton-plant built 2,000 cars for the government Of these, 1,500 were assigned to the Santa Fe, and the remainder went to roads in the Southeast. Not one of the cars was assigned to local lines.

Not only are the new cars being sent out empty, but many old cars that have been stored here in bad order are being sent north and west empty as fast as they can be repaired.

It is claimed that the need for these cars for the movement of grain is imperative, and justifies the movement of the cars out of Memphis empty in order to, save time in delivering them. Although 101,000 new freight cars were built for the government during the past year, the soortage all over the country is said to be acute, and especially so in the South and West. The movement of grain, however, now has the right of way over all other commodities.

According to the New York Journal of Commerce, the delivery of anthracite for the four-month period ending July 31 was 2,000,000 tons in excess of the deliveries for the same period of 1916, which the national fuel administration accepted as normal. The local bituminous demand in the East has been filled, it is claimed, and Eastern producers have trains of coal loaded walting for export. Western operators protest against cars being sent from their lines for storage purposes for export coal by Eastern operators.

The local situation is said to be worse than during the time of the big shortage in 1917. With the movement of cotton just beginning and the prospects bright for the biggest lumber business in recent years, and all other Memphis industries working at capacity, local railway officials and business men are greatly concerned over the situation.

Pursue Only Clew To Speeder Whose Big Car Killed Boy Little progress had been made Friday

by the police and detectives toward establishing the identity of the negro driver or occupants of the big automobile that crushed to death Frank Cole. It years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Cole, as the boy stepped from the curb at Seventh street and Greeniaw avenue, Wednesday afternoon.

Three different license numbers and as many different makes of cars have been turned in to the detective department by eye-witnesses, as being the automobile that continued at higher speed out the street after killing the boy.

One woman said the car contained three negroes. Other persons told the police that a negro was driving and two white men were in the rear seat.

The latter clew resulted in Hulet Smith, chief of detectives, Thursday night sending Detective W. J. Griffin to a town in Mississippi, a short distance from Memphis, to investigate the whereabouts of a certain automobile at the time Cole was killed.

The funeral of the little victim was held Friday morning from the Cole home, 625 Greeniaw avenue. Burial was in Calvary cametery. establishing the identity of the negro WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—A first-hand story of the negotiations, which resulted in the treaty provision giving Japan control of Shantung province. China, was told to the senate foreign relations committee today by Prof. E. T. Prof. Williams said he had "objected very stronigly" to the Shantung settlement but that his resignation from the peace commission had not been due to his opposition.

On April 22, the witness said, President Wilson sent for him and asked him which of the proposed alternatives would be less injurious to China—the transfer of the German Shantung rights to Japan or insistence on the execution of Japan's treaty with Chinagrowing out of the famous 21 demands of 1915.

Mr. Kyser went over with his chief the situation as it obtains in Memphis and General Ames outlined the purposes back of his request for co-operation by Mr. Kyser with the Memphis Chamber of Commerce in conducting a thorough investigation.

It was pointed out that the campaign has been semewhat handicapped in Tennessee owing to the failure to retain all the forces of the food administration there. Since Frank Weeden, negro, 19 years old, 651 Court avenue, was tucked away in a cell at the central police station Thursday night, Memphis streets should be much more safe for unguarded automobiles. According to Detectives Beil and Williams who interrogated Weeden Friday, the negro confessed to the theft of three cars that had been recovered by the detectives and police. Patrolmen Hume and Meiton were attracted by Weeden in a car Thurs-day night that bore Mississippi license, as well as Memphis city license. They charged him with violating traffic
